Testimony Party" (the Southern Synod of Kentucky) at the Southern General Assembly, Nashville, Tenn., asking admittance to that body. And while at Clarksville he was appointed agent of the Tennessee Synod to collect funds for the reopening of Stuart College, now the Southwestern University. He was a director of Central University, Richmond, Ky.

Dr. Davies was married May 30, 1867, in Paris, Ky., to Miss Hetty Nicholas Hawes, who with two daughters survives him.

JOSEPH TUTHILL DURYEA, D.D., LL.D.,

Son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Stimpson) Duryea, was born Dec. 9, 1832, in Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y. He united with the Presbyterian Church of his native town at the age of eighteen. His preparatory studies were pursued in the Union Hill Academy of Jamaica, and he graduated from Princeton College in 1856. He entered the Seminary at Princeton the same year, taking the full three years' course, and graduating in 1859. During two years of his Seminary life he was a tutor of Greek and Rhetoric in the College, 1857-59. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Nassau, Oct. 13, 1858, and ordained by the Presbytery of Troy, May 19, 1859, being at the same time installed pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Troy, N. Y. He was released from this charge Feb. 28, 1862. From March, 1862, to December, 1867, he was pastor of the Reformed Dutch Collegiate Church in New York City. His next charge was the Classon Avenue Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, which he served from Dec. 26, 1867, to April 7, 1879. Ten days later he was installed pastor of the Central Congregational Church of Boston, Mass., this relation being dissolved Dec. 11, 1888. He was pastor of the First Congregational Church of Omaha, Neb., from Jan. 31, 1888, to May 9, 1898, and of the First Reformed Church of Williamsburgh, Brooklyn, from June 4, 1895, until his death, which occurred May 17, 1898, in Boston, of heart failure, in the 66th year of his age. He received the degree of D.D. from Princeton College in 1866, and that of LL.D. from Omaha University in 1894. His services as a lecturer and instructor were in frequent demand. He delivered the oration at the semi-centennial celebration of Dr. Charles Hodge's connection with Princeton Seminary as an instructor. He was a lecturer in the Nassau Institute, Brooklyn, 1868-78; lecturer on Philosophy in Wellesley College, 1879-88; acting professor in Andover Theological Seminary, 1879-81; acting professor in Boston University, 1886-87; lecturer on psychology and ethics in the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, 1885-88, and during the same time lecturer in the Boston School of Expression and on political economy in the Boston School of Oratory. He declined seven different calls to college presidencies, one of these being to Union College, in 1885. He compiled the Presbyterian Hymnal, published in 1869, and published many magazine articles and sermons. He was a Director of Princeton Seminary from 1873 to 1879.

Dr. Duryea was twice married: (1) April 27, 1859, in Princeton, N. J., to Miss Elizabeth Rose Baker, who died Sept. 21, 1882; (2) Dec. 31, 1889, at Omaha, Neb., to Miss Anna Sturges Plummer, who, with one son and four daughters by his first marriage, survives him.

WILLIAM COCHRANE, D.D.,

Son of William and Mary (McMillan) Cochrane, was born Feb. 9, 1831, in Paisley, Scotland. He united with the Presbyterian Church of Paisley at the age of nineteen. He studied in the parochial public schools and under private tutors. When twelve years old he entered the publishing house of Murray & Stewart, where he remained ten and a half years. He began his arts course in the University of Glasgow, but coming to America concluded it in Hanover College, Ind., from which he graduated in 1857. He spent part of his time while in college in the study of theology. He entered the Seminary at Princeton in 1857, and remained two years. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Madison, Feb. 16, 1859, and ordained by the Second Presbytery of New York, June 7, 1859, being at the same time installed pastor of the Scotch Presbyterian Church
