JOSHUA BOLLES GARRITT, Ph.D., LL.D.,

Son of Joshua and Margaret Cowan (Bolles) Garritt, was born Jan. 23, 1832, in Litchfield, Conn. He made a public confession of his faith in the Presbyterian church of Delphi, Ind., at the age of fifteen. His preparatory studies were pursued in Delphi under the Rev. E. W. Wright, and he graduated from Hanover College in 1853. He then spent a year in teaching in Evansville, Ind. He took the first year of his theological course, 1854-55, in the New Albany (now McCormick) Theological Seminary, and entered the Seminary at Princeton in 1855, remaining one year. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Logansport, June 4, 1855, and ordained an evangelist by the Presbytery of Madison, April 8, 1863. He was professor of the Latin and Greek Languages in Hanover College from 1856 to 1906. During this time he served the following churches: Lancaster, Ind., 1862-64; Lexington, Ind., 1863-64; Hanover, Ind., 1866-68, 1873-75, 1878-83, 1885-86. In 1906 he retired from his professorship and was made professor emeritus. He continued his residence in Hanover, Ind., until his death there Aug. 31, 1918, of arterio-sclerosis, in the 87th year of his age. He was buried at Hanover. He received the degree of Ph.D. from Wooster University in 1881 and the degree of LL.D. from the University of Kentucky in 1909. He published numerous lectures and articles in newspapers and college publications.

He was married Dec. 25, 1856, in Hanover, Ind., to Sarah Almira Crowe, who died Jan. 2, 1897. One son and two daughters survive him.

EDWARD JOHN HAMILTON, D.D., LL.D.,

Son of the Rev. William and Anna (Patterson) Hamilton, was born Nov. 29, 1834, in Belfast, Ireland. He came to this country in his early youth. He made a public confession of his faith in the Fifth Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati at the age of fifteen. His preparatory studies were pursued in the Mt. Vernon Academy, Ohio, and under the instruction of his father, and he graduated from Hanover College, Indiana, in 1853. He entered the Seminary at Princeton in the fall of the same year, remaining one year. He then studied theology for four months in the New Albany (now McCormick) Seminary and later for three months in Union Seminary. Returning to Princeton in 1856 he completed his theological studies there, graduating from this institution in 1858. He was licensed by the First Presbytery of New York, April 7, 1858, and ordained by the Presbytery of Nassau, Nov. 25, 1858, being at the same time installed pastor of the church at Oyster Bay, N. Y., from which he was released Oct. 1, 1861. He labored as an evangelist in Dromore, Ireland, from November 1862 to April 1863. Returning to this country he became a chaplain in the United States Army, serving as chaplain of the 7th New Jersey Volunteers from December 1863 to August 1865. He was pastor of the church at Hamilton, O., from June 27, 1866, to Sept. 1, 1868. He was professor of Mental Philosophy in Hanover College, Indiana, from 1868 to 1879; acting professor of Logic, Ethics and Political Science in Princeton University from 1882 to 1883; professor of Intellectual Science and Hebrew in Hamilton College from 1883 to 1891, and spent the next three years in literary work in New York City. He was professor of Philosophy in Whitworth College, Washington, from 1894 to 1895, and professor of Philosophy in the University of the State of Washington from 1895 to 1899. After this he engaged in literary work with his residence in Plainfield, N. J., and Des Moines, Iowa. He died Nov. 21, 1918, in Buffalo, N. Y., of cystitis and myocarditis, in the 84th year of his age. He was buried at Syracuse, N. Y. He received the honorary degree of S.T.D. from Wabash College in 1877; the honorary degree of D.D. from Monmouth College, Illinois, in 1877, and the honorary degree of LL.D. from Hanover College, Indiana, in 1917.
