3 FRENCH AIRMEN SPEND LAST NIGHT ON SPANISH SOIL, TO RESUME JAUNT

Three Flying Musketeers of France, Assolant, LeFevre and Lotti, Remain at Comillas for Another Sleep Before Leaving for Paris, Their Goal.

ONE HOUR'S FLIGHT FROM THE DESTINATION

Gasoline, Spare Parts and Electric Self-Starters Brought To Yellow Bird Yesterday And Everything Is In Readiness To Resume Journey.

COMILLAS, Spain, June 15.—(P)—The three flying musketeers of France, Assolant, LeFevre and Lotti, remained tonight for another sleep on Spanish soil before going on to Paris, goal of their flight across the Atlantic ocean from America.

The Yellow Bird is scheduled to soar away from the beach at Oriambré at 5 a. m., tomorrow (midnight E. S. T.) taking up again its journey from the haven where it alighted at the end of its trans-Atlantic trip last night.

By cutting across a corner of the Bay of Biscay the fliers will be over the soil of France within a little less than an hour after leaving Oriambré.

On their way to Paris they will stop for gasoline at Cazaux flying field near Bordeaux and then continue to Le Bourget field.

Repairs to the Yellow Bird, which were made by Spanish mechanics this afternoon, were of a minor character but sufficient to delay the departure of the flying musketeers. They made one trial flight, which was at first thought to be their real departure for Paris, and returned shortly afterwards.

Stand By Stowaway.

Arthur Schreiber, American stowaway on the big Bernard monoplane, remained with the French aviators and will be taken by them to Paris.

Gasoline, spare parts and an electric self-starter were brought to the Yellow Bird today by Spanish airplanes sent from Burgos and Getage. A thorough inspection in the machine revealed a stoppage in the carburetor and the Spanish mechanics worked for several hours to put it back into good running order.

Jean Assolant, Rene LeFevre and Armeno Lotti, Jr., spent part of a busy day repairing their airplane and its motor, while young Schreiber gave Spain the once-over and regaled the natives with an account of how "we" crossed the Atlantic and how "we" were going on to Paris as soon as the little matter of getting some more gasoline into the tanks had been attended to.

When someone suggested to Schreiber that there might have been enough gasoline to get there without stopping in Spain if he had not hidden in the plane, and pointed out besides that he had endangered the lives of his three hosts, the young man merely remarked that he had wanted to do what Lindbergh did and had just about done it.

None of the French fliers got much sleep last night. Hospitable Spanish folk gave them scarcely a moment to themselves. Comillas could not let the occasion slip by without a celebration and as there wasn't time to organize a formal one last night, it will have one tonight. The decision was made as soon as the fliers postponed their homeward hop.

Schreiber was invited along with the three aviators who have reconciled themselves to his presence and permit him to go along as they go from one ovation to another.

Lotti said that they would take him up to Paris in the airplane. Put him up at the home of M. Lotti, senior, let him share in whatever festivities awaited them and when all was over they would send him home.

To Resume Flight Today

SECRETARY GOOD CONDEMNS USE OF ARMY EQUIPMENT

Charge That Tennessee Guardsmen Used Federal Uniforms and Other Paraphernalia of Federal Government, Proven.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(P)—The recent use by Tennessee national guardsmen of army uniforms and equipment while serving as state police during the textile strike was declared by Secretary Good today to have been unlawful.

Independent investigations into the use of the army equipment by members of the national guard while doing state police duty under the order conducted by the war department after verbal charges had been made to the secretary by labor leaders that the use of the equipment was illegal.

Mr. Good made public a letter to governor Henry H. Horton of Tennessee requesting that the equipment not be so used in the future, saying he was convinced that the Tennessee authorities, who have approved the use of the equipment for the past 18 years did not know their act was unlawful.

While there is not a substantial agreement among all of the law officers of the judge advocate general's office on the legal aspects, the secretary said his opinion would doubtless be supported.

Secretary Good said the department did not inquire into the question so far as other states were concerned, since Tennessee is the only state with a constitutional provision creating a complete situation in the calling out of the national guard.

County Attorney David Huriburt reiterated his intention to oppose all efforts to transfer jurisdiction in the case of federal courts. Huriburt will be assisted by O. J. Larson, former congressman, retained by relatives of Kirkkula.

Larson said that if the case were taken from the state courts "White" will have to be given the same kind of trial he would receive in the district court. He said he would not permit the case to go to federal courts. Dr. Will said the patrolman may be drilled to St. Paul for questioning to determine if he was act-

Seek To Try Border Guard In Courts Of State Of Minnesota

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., June 15.—(P)—Koochiching county residents today joined the controversy between state and federal authorities over custody of Emmet J. White, border patrolman charged with murder, by circulating petitions asking that White be tried in state courts.

What weight the petitions might have in the controversy was uncertain, but those behind the move planned tentatively to present them to federal authorities who hold that White should be tried in federal courts if indicted.

L. L. Drill, United States district attorney at St. Paul, said he had been authorized by Attorney General Mitchell to take the case to federal courts. Dr. Will said the patrolman may be drilled to St. Paul for questioning to determine if he was act-

HOOVER REGARDS FARM RELIEF BILL MOST IMPORTANT ACT OF CONGRESS

Chief Executive After Signing Bill Yesterday At Noon Issues Statement In Which He Says It Is Constructive Start At Agricultural Relief.

INDICATES DIRT FARMERS WILL BE NAMED ON BOARD

Says No Steps Have Been Taken In This Direction Except Receipt of Many Recommendations and That Selection Will Take Several Weeks.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(P)—President Hoover described the farm relief bill which he signed today as "a constructive start at agricultural relief" and as "the most important measure ever passed by congress in aid of a single industry."

His formal statement, issued several hours after the actual signing, follows: "After many years of contention we have at last made a constructive start at agricultural relief with the most important measure ever passed by congress in aid of single industry."

"As it would have introduced many cross-currents to have initiated any movement toward the selection of the farm board until after the legislation was completed, no steps have been taken in this direction beyond the receipt of several hundred recommendations. It will require two or three weeks to take these sections. The choice of the board is not easy for its members must in a measure be distributed regionally over the country, it must at the same time be chosen so as to represent so far as possible each major branch of agriculture."

Composition of Board

"Moreover, the board must be made up of actual farm experience and inasmuch as its work lies largely in marketing in conjunction with farm cooperatives its membership should be comprised of men who have been actually engaged in directing farmers' marketing organizations. It is desirable that the board should have in its constitution at least one man experienced in general business and one with special experience in finance."

"I am asking for a preliminary appropriation of $150,000,000 at once out of the $500,000,000 that has been authorized, and as congress will be in session except for short periods, the board will be able to present its further requirements at almost any time."

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(P)—President Hoover signed the farm relief bill today, thus making law the major part of his program intended to stabilize agriculture.

Monday he will ask congress for $150,000,000 of the $500,000,000 revolving fund authorized for loans to assist the farmer owned and controlled stabilization corporations and cooperatives.

Simultaneously he will begin selection of the eight men to compose the federal farm board which is to administer the fund and have authority in agriculture comparable with that of the federal reserve board and the Interstate Commerce Commission in their spheres.

Secretary Hyde will request farm organizations and others interested to suggest men for board appointments. Mr. Hoover hopes that within two weeks he can select a board from his list who will present at the convention in Today's election of officers marked the end of the seventh annual encampment of the Virginia Department. Selection of a convention city for next year was left to a committee.

At the final meeting of the order of the Goodie A. J. Orsmer, of Portsmouth, was named commander, while E. R. Bonney, was named senior vice-commander, and A. B. Hill, Portsmouth, junior vice-commander.

Predict Attendance Of 1,500 Delegates At The Anti-Smith Convention

SUFFOLK VOTER RAISES PROTEST OVER TEA PARTY

I. C. Trotman Wires Mrs. Hoover About Entertainment Of Wife of Negro Congressman, Saying It Will Cost Republicans Many Votes.

A statement that entertainment of the wife of a Negro congressman at a recent white house tea would cost the Republican party 25,000 votes in Virginia was made yesterday by I. C. Trotman, member of the anti-Smith committee of ten which called the Roanoke convention to be held June 18, in a telegram he said he had sent to Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Trotman said he had sent two telegrams to Mrs. Hoover, in connection with the tea and gave the text of the second which follows:

"Your silent contempt for my message of yesterday goes a long way toward healing the wound inflicted in the hearts of six Southern States that gave Mr. Hoover such a large majority. Can it be possible that you think Southern white people beneath your consideration? Your tea party cost the Republican party in Virginia not less than 25,000 votes. An expression from you would do lots of good."

In making public the text of the telegram Mr. Trotman made the following statement with reference to the Roanoke convention:

"As one of the ten committeemen and representing the Second Congressional District at the anti-Smith convention in Roanoke June 18, I will state that unless this convention passes resolution denouncing and condemning the entertainment of a Negro woman in the white house by Mrs. Hoover, I will no longer take part in the convention and will resign from office as a committeeman at once."

"I never have and never will vote for or stand for social equality."

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 15.—(P)—An echo in anti-Smith Democratic ranks from the incident of the entertainment at tea by Mrs. Herbert Hoover of the wife of Oscar De Priest, Negro congressman has come in the announcement by Captain Charles C. Berkeley, of Newport News, chairman of the anti-Smith Democratic committee of the First Congressional District of a resolution which he will present at the state convention for adoption in the platform.

2 HURT AS AUTO HITS LIGHT CART

Raleigh and Gaston Ellis Sent To Hospital For Treatment But Police Ordered Them Held For Violation of Prohibition Law.

Raleigh and Gaston Ellis, both of this city, escaped probably serious injuries late last night when the car in which they were driving collided with a horse and cart on lower Main street just below the Seaboard Railway tracks.

Both of the occupants of the machine were rushed to the Lakeview hospital where they were given first aid treatment and according to officials of that institution the victims were doing nicely at an early hour this morning.

It is said that the machine, with Gaston Ellis as the driver was proceeding north on Main street, when the wagon owner by Clinton Weaver was struck. The call came immediately to police headquarters and when Lieutenant Squires arrived on the scene both of the men were suffering from wounds received in the accident and they were rushed immediately to the hospital. But according to a report from Lakeview neither of the men received serious injuries.

Chief Churn, who also made an investigation of the accident, ordered that both of the men be detained on charges of violating the prohibition law. Raleigh Ellis, who is said to have been the owner of the car, was charged with being drunk and Gaston Ellis who is said to have been the driver of the machine, was charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

VOTED FOR FARM BILL

Leaders of Movement For Nomination of Third Party Ticket At Roanoke This Week Completing Arrangements for The Gathering, the Motto of Which Is "Smash the Ring."

RICHMOND, Va., June 15.—(P)—Predicting an attendance of upwards of 1,500 delegates at their convention at Roanoke next Tuesday, Anti-Smith leaders of Virginia were completing arrangements over the week-end for a "band wagon" march to the convention city to nominate a ticket for state offices and present determined opposition to Democratic leaders who supported Alfred E. Smith in the presidential campaign last year.

"Smash the machine" banners will be borne by automobiles of delegates from all sections en route to Roanoke Monday, Anti-Smith leaders say, many of the districts assembling at midway points to descend on the city in large motorcades. The convention has been thrown open to all former Democrats who voted against Smith, such a vote being the only credentials needed.

The convention itself was preceded this week by a flurry of statements, including one by Dr. William M. Brown of Washington and Lee University, a Hoover supporter in 1928, that he would accept nomination as an independent candidate for governor if nominated by both Anti-Smith and Republican conventions. The Republicans meet here a week after the Anti-Smith Democrats assemble in Roanoke.

While a number of Anti-Smith Democrats have figured in political discussions for the past three months as possible candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, Dr. Brown's name has continued in the forefront and his nomination is known to be looked upon with favor by a large group that will attend the convention. Those considering the possibility of a coalition Anti-Smith-Republican ticket have said that Dr. Brown is likewise acceptable to those who have taken a leading part in the Republican party in the past few years.

The announcement from Harrisonburg last night that George N. Conrad chairman of the Anti-Smith committee of ten that called the Lynchburg conference February 5, had resigned from the committee and would not attend the Anti-Smith convention, was followed today by the announcement that Dr. R. H. Pitt, Baptist leader and editor of the Religious Herald, who opposed the Democratic ticket last year, would participate in the Democratic primary.

Mr. Conrad said he would support G. Walter Mapp, one of the three Democratic candidates for governor, if Mr. Mapp should be nominated by the Democrats. He did not specifically state that he would not participate in the primary but his statement was taken in political circles to mean that he would not, since this would commit him to support the nominee of the party. Mr. Conrad said he would not go to Roanoke since he did not want to be committed to the Anti-Smith candidate.

Mr. Pitt in his statement today declared that the objects of the Anti-Smith effort had been accomplished and that he would enter the primary and support John Garland Pollard. Referring to Mr. Conrad's statement that Mr. Mapp would draw from 10,000 to 15,000 more Anti-Smith votes than either Mr. Pollard or Roosevelt Page, Dr. Pitt said "to contend that one candidate would get more votes because he was less active in support of the Democratic presidential nomination someone else is to question the sincerity of the candidate."

It was not known tonight whether Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who aided in the organization of the anti Smith Democrats last year, would attend the Roanoke convention. Bishop Cannon largely directed the Anti-Smith campaign against Smith and has advised Anti-Smith Democrats to stay out of the primary and oppose Democratic leaders who denounced them in the fight last year. He also stated that he would personally welcome the opportunity of voting for a

AMERICAN ENVOY OFF TO SCOTLAND TO CONFER WITH BRITISH PREMIER

New American Ambassador After Presenting Credentials, Leaves London Last Night for Scottish Highlands To Visit Ramsay MacDonald.

CONFERENCE HAILED AS PREGNANT WITH RESULTS

British Opinion, Optimistic As It Is Eager, Holds To Belief That Meeting of Heads of Two Governments Will Eliminate Irritation.

LONDON, June 15.—(P)—Charles Gates Dawes, New American ambassador to Great Britain, left tonight for the Scottish highlands to meet Premier Ramsay MacDonald in a conference widely hailed as pregnant with great events, after presenting his credentials to King George at Windsor Castle.

The ceremony at Windsor today was strictly according to tradition, but Ambassador Dawes' expeditious journey to Scotland in performance of a special mission is as novel as it is dramatically momentous.

Fired with enthusiastic interest by the brusque mid-west American's "hus-tle", the British public is watching General Dawes with the keenest interest. Englishmen are firmly convinced that he brings from President Hoover to the British prime minister an invitation freighted with incalculable possibilities for world peace.

Outcome Visit To Hoover

Well-informed British sentiment forecast tonight that as a result of tomorrow's luncheon chat between the two statesmen Premier MacDonald will visit President Hoover in Washington for a face-to-face discussion of the disarmament problem.

British opinion, as optimistic as it is eager, holds to the belief that such a meeting of the heads of the two great English speaking nations will eliminate the primary causes of irritation between the two peoples and pave the way to international security and world peace.

Laid in a scene rich in historic association today's ceremony at Windsor castle was simple and brief, but marked by cordiality on the part of both the British sovereign and the unpretentious American who came as the representative of American Democracy.

Accompanied by Mrs. Dawes, Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, and Ray Atherton, of the American embassy, the ambassador travelled to Windsor by one of the regular trains, but in a special carriage.

At the station of the ancient village, where since William the Conqueror, English kings and queens have maintained their principal residence, the Dawes party was met by state carriages.

Open landaus, drawn each drawn by two pairs of white horses mounted by postillions, conveyed General Dawes and the others up the hill to the grey castle under which so many monarch lie buried.

While Holiday makers rambled through the spacious grounds and echoing corridors, General Dawes was ushered in to the audience room where King George awaited him.

Ambassador Dawes presented his credentials to the sovereign. Then His Majesty and General Dawes the private citizen began a personal conversation which proved so agreeable to both that it continued for nearly half an hour.

"I found the King delightful," General Dawes said after leaving the castle. "I don't know what the usual ceremonial is but I just presented my credentials. His Majesty was looking very well. He chatted with me on various subjects for half an hour."

Leaving the castle gates with Mrs. Dawes, the ambassador was scarcely noticed by numerous groups of tourist visitors who were sightseeing in the gardens and around the walls.

He returned to London and plunged immediately into business with the embassy staff in preparation for the journey north to Scotland which he began on the night train.

Boy Kidnaped In Roanoke Makes Escape From Hospital

RICHMOND, Va., June 15.—(P)—After relating that he had been kidnaped in Roanoke and had escaped after being brought to Richmond, Richard O'Neal, 13, of Roanoke, who was injured here today by a street car, late this afternoon ran from a hospital here and disappeared. It was learned from officials.

He is said to have left the hospital after asking his nurse for a glass of water. He had not been found at a late hour tonight.

O'Neal was taken to the hospital suffering with injuries received in a collision between his bicycle and a street car. His condition was regarded as serious.

Dr. Henry Louis Smith Devised Propagandist Idea During World War

Educator, Who Retires As President of Washington & Lee This Year, Made Valuable Contribution to The War For Democracy.

LEXINGTON, Va., June 15 (Special)—Eleven years ago this week, Lieut. Matthew Voim, Imperial German Infantry, stood watching a group of queer little balloons, made apparently of colored paper, float to the ground behind his lines. To each was attached a six-foot thread at the end of which snagged a packet of papers.

DR. HENRY LOUIS SMITH

A German soldier ran up with two of them and reported:

"Millions of these are floating behind our lines. They stick in trees and some even into the trenches. Lies are printed in German on the papers. See!"

And back of the allied defense, French and British intelligence officers were sending up two and one-half millions of these tiny oil-paper carriers each week. They were released to travel with dominant air currents and time to drop at specific distances in Teutonic territory, bearing messages to teach the German masses that the war was fought for world freedom, not for allied conquest.

It was the idea of an American teacher, whose contribution to allied victory came to light this week in connection with the retirement of Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University, President Smith, physicist and meteorologist, who determine American spirit and to present the American point of view to the German people.

The National Security League offered a reward for the best plan to distribute allied propaganda over Germany. The acceptable scheme came from President Smith's study at Washington and Lee.

For fourteen years before coming to Lexington, Doctor Smith had served as professor of physics and meteorology. He knew that north-temperate air cur-releasing large number of these colored paper and rubber balloons, filled with coal gas and hydrogen. Born by the air-drift, each balloon would carry a message over the enemy lines. These papers, at the end of a two-yard thread would flutter conspicuously as the carrier descended. Size and gas content was to determine the distance travelled before the balloon settled to earth.

Success was apparent when American officers found that eight out of every ten prisoners captured carried allied propaganda in their pockets. Reports declared the literature "well thumbed."

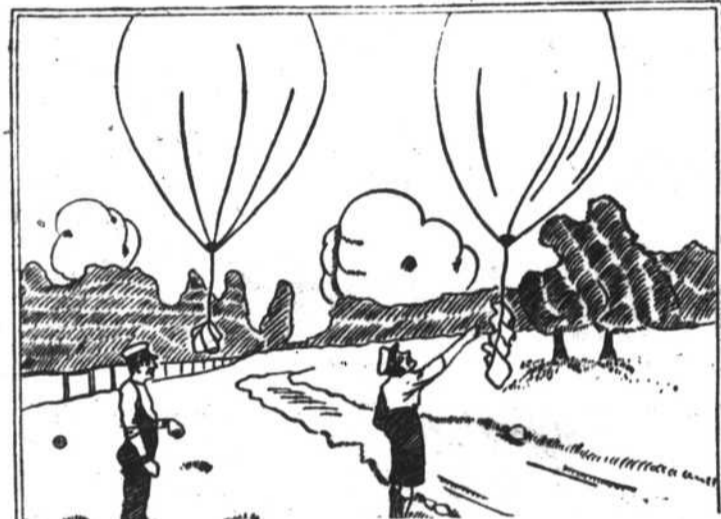

Professor Voim today told of the success of the plan. "I remember well the use of the balloons to get information behind our lines," he said. "We knew the balloons were floating continually into our territory. A reward was offered, I believed," by our corps headquarters for every balloon turned in; but, of course, that did not prevent a reading of the messages."

Before August, 1918, twenty-seven million leaflets had been dropped into Germany. They contained President Wilson's speeches, true news of vast activities in America, millions of cartoons, statements of causes, significance and aims of war.

Doctor Smith was born at Greensboro, N. C., in 1889. He reaches the official retirement age this July, but was asked by the trustees of Washington and Lee University to continue in office as president until January 1, 1930.

Since coming to Washington and Lee in 1912 to take administrative charge of the institution, Doctor Smith has lived in General Robert E. Lee's former home on the campus—where the Southern Chieftain died while president of the college in October, 1870.

"The money I won as prize for this balloon device," President Smith smiled, "went toward buying the first automobile I ever owned—and I was a college president, not a college student, when I bought it."

Prince of Wales Rumored "Tied Up"

Though not the first of his reported betrothals, an announcement of the engagement of the much sought-after Prince of Wales, left, to the comely Princess Ingrid, right, daughter of the Crown Prince of Sweden, is expected shortly, according to rumor afloat. If true, many royal tears will be shed by many ambitious mamma and eligible daughters, as the most desirable bachelor slips through their royal fingers.

Murder Suicide Theory Accepted

The act of Louis Bennison in taking the life of Margaret Lawrence, noted star, in her New York apartment and then ending his own with the second bullet, ended a four-day horror of gin and sweats of hearts for the actress, according to the reconstruction of the crime by the New York police. The picture above shows liquor bottles, poker chips and a small roulette wheel in a jumble on the sideboard in Margaret Lawrence's apartment. From the story told by Gertrude Chalais, inset, intimate friend of both victims, who discovered the tragedy, the police have been able to deduce that, faced with stage oblivion and money troubles, the lovers found death the only way out.

Hudson Plus Aerocar Too Fast For Cops

Here coupled to a Greater Hudson Coupe is the Aerocar, a trailer type coach which promises to revolutionize automobile passenger travel through its high degree of riding comfort. Its amazing tractability was demonstrated on a test run from Miami to New York City when Glenn H. Curtiss, its inventor, asked Washington police for an escort through the city but drove so fast that the escort could not catch up. With Mr. Curtiss, central figure in the picture are, left, "Barnie" Eversing, president of the Aerocar Company of Detroit, and right, Richard Latta, general sales manager. Among its backers are outstanding men such as E. D. Christie, Howard E. Coffin, Walter O. Brines and Arthur Brisbane.

NOW—AS THEN—YOU HEAR "CHRYSLER" EVERYWHERE!

"Not merely a new note in motoring—a new school in engineering and performance, is the Chrysler. + + Height, weight, balance, acceleration, power, appearance—these are some things Chrysler has revolutionized. + + Make no mistake—you are witnessing the rise of new principles in motor manufacture which are profoundly affecting all motor car design. + + No car is immune to the irresistible attractions of the Chrysler."

WHAT IS CHRYSLER ENGINEERING?

It is a matter of opinion as to who did most in creating the automobile, and it is a matter of fact that Chrysler has done more in modernizing it. Some of the most vital and thrilling chapters in the history of the motor car have been written by Chrysler engineers.

Chrysler engineering, analyzed in simple terms, is a combination of far-sighted vision and resourceful genius that succeed in accomplishing inspired improvements. In one word, Chrysler engineering is : : : Progress.

This is not a vainglorious gesture—it is a statement of plain, hard-shell fact fully borne out by the following partial list of advancements which Chrysler has pioneered or developed:

- Hydraulic Four-Wheel Brakes
- Rubber Shock Insulators
- "Silver-Dome" and "Red Head" High-compression Engines
- High Turbulence Offset Combustion Chamber
- Fully Counter-weighted 7-Bearing Crankshaft
- Isometric 14-rib Spring Plates with Tungsten Rings
- Non-wearing Chilled Cast-iron Face Tappets
- Rubber Engine Mountings
- Modern Piston Tube Carburetion—with Positive Pressure Pump Acceleration and Semi-Automatic Choke Valve
- Indirect Lighting of Instrument Panel
- Light Controls on Steering Wheel
- Body Impulse Neutralizer
- Small Diameter Road Wheels
- Modern Roadster Body Type
- Beaded Belt Moulding and Modern Color Treatment

The Chrysler you buy today is the direct beneficiary of all the progress that Chrysler engineering has made in the five years of its brilliant history. Let us give you a demonstration.
